Go forth in peace, Brother Goforth, as we have received your money and have upped your expiration date.

Sgt. Kenneth Yopp, one of our overseas subscribers, received some sort of cup for meritorious work. His parents did not know what for, and neither do I. Congratulations anyway.

Mighty sorry to hear of the illness of the county's efficient head of its health department, Dr. F. L. McGahey. Hope he will be back on duty soon.

The question, "what's happened to the rat campaign," has been answered. It will start Tuesday, but it is anti-rat.

If there is anything more confusing and less understandable than the Einstein Theory of Relativity, it is the draft policy of the federal government. Each American citizen should know where he stands with reference to his draft status, but he does not. I guess, this being general election year, there will be confusion until after November.

Senator Byrd, now being boomed for President, is a Southern gentleman and has fought for many years in the Senate for the ideals of the old South, all of which the New Deal is determined to destroy. The New Deal has stolen the label of the Democratic Party and has taken charge of its organization. It is not humanly possible for one to be a New Dealer and adhere to the ideals and principles of the Democratic Party of our fathers. I am a Democrat, and, therefore, I am not and cannot be a New Dealer.

Three birds with one stone: Chas. Perry and both the Branscomb brothers renewed this week.

The workers who made it possible for Grenada County to exceed its Red Cross quota of $20,000.00 by over six thousand dollars are to be congratulated. To mention some workers and omit others, who might have worked on less fertile territory, might do injustive. There is glory enough for all.

Jim Elliott, supervisor of Beat Five, is to be congratulated on his perseverance (or, if you want to call it so, obstinancy) in keeping on keeping on until he forced the State Highway Department to assume responsibility for the Cane Creek bridge, even if he had to go to the Supreme Court to do it.

Merchie Isenberg was reported to be sitting on the curb crying recently.

Dear Andrew: your friend from Cascilla, Sgt. Mullen, called by the office this week, also talked over the phone to May.

My favorite WAC, who was AWOL for over ten days and therefore subject to General Court Martial, showed up repenetant last week.

One man from Texas bought ten of last week's issues; a man from California bought three.

We are happy to report that, by the indulgence of creditors and good luck, we have got by another first of the month.

The negroes in and around Oxberry had a grand time riding in the army boats, eating RC rations and gigging gar fish last week.

The dairies of Grenada are doing a fine job, what with the unprecendented demand for their products.

Hurrah for Cliff Johnson and his RC committees who have done a fine job in a noble cause.

The old lady is STILL my MAIN favorite, as everybody knows.

The anti-rat campaign will start next Tuesday. The delay has been occasioned by difficulty in getting the poison. Down with Mr. and Mrs. Rat.

No, gentle reader, Little Chick is not working for the Mississippi Vending Company.

The water did not get up to Geo. Cunningham's house. I doubt if the flood of the famous Mr. Noah did.

After reading Mr. Vollies ad it is reported that Bet Horn bought an entire crate of lemons.

Sam Mitchell of Clarksdale woh was rejected because the army did not have a hat large enough, has become a ram returned to the fold.

My favorite brunette and ex-correspondent is a pretty as ever, if not more so.

See where our neighbor, Louis Massacalco, has taken on a wife.

Thanks to Potatoman Lewis Morris for a peck.

Good Friday Services At All Saints' Episcopal Church

At the Three Hour Service on Good Friday Meditations on the Seven Last Words of Christ will be given by the following:

The First Word: "Father Forgive them, for they know not what they do." Rev. W. L. Robinson.

The Second Word: "Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise." Rev. C. S. Liles.

The Third Word: "Woman, behold thy Son; Son behold thy Mother." Chaplain John Dvorovy.

The Fourth Word: "My God, My God, Why hast thou forsaken me?" Chaplain A. R. Buchanan.

The Fifth Word: "I Thirst." Rev. C. S. Liles.

The Seventh Word: "It is Finished."

The Seventh Word: "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit." Chaplain W. E. Swope.

The public is cordially invited to join with us in these services commemorating our Lord's last week on earth.

American Red Cross Drive Goes Over Its Goal

The total amount collected to date is $27,229.19. Our quota was $20,600. which puts us $6,629.19 over the quota.

Our quota was collected in the following manner: the business section was the backbone of the drive bringing in $14,454.08. Much of this money was collected the "hard way" by two traveling salesmen, Ed Underwood and Ed Bass. They sold the Red Cross to many business firms, large and small, some of which had never contributed before. They want to take this opportunity sincerely to thank those people who have contributed to the success of the drive by making liberal donations.

The remaining collections were as follows: residential area, $1843.27; rural area, $1434.40; Grenada AAB, $1,314.40; Negro citizens, $700.61; Camp McCain, $7,308.9; collection in the jars, $113.52.

There were over 100 volunteer workers on this campaign scattered thruout Grenada and rural areas, the AAB and Camp McCain. It will be impossible to thank everyone who worked for this individually. However, we do want to express our sincere appreciation for their loyal support in giving their time and effort.

Cane Creek Bridge Belongs To State Highway Dept.

According to a recent decision of the State Supreme Court, the Cane Creek bridge, just below Holcolm on State Highway 7 in Beat Five, belongs to the State Highway Department, and not to Grenada County.

This settles a long drawn out controvery between the State Highway Comission and the county board of supervisors, a controversy that began almost as the road was finished early in 1928.

The latest flare-up in the matter came about when the bridge fell in while Mrs. J. T. Thomas' car wrecked while standing still awaiting clearance at the far side of the bridge.

There has long been an idea advanced by the highway department that it accepted such sub-standard bridges only as a matter of expediency, to get roads passable as soon as possible, and as inexpensively as possible. W. W. Whitaker, C. V. Gibson and J. L. Elliott who served as supervisor in District Five since 1928, in turn, never agreed to the highway department's theory, and apparently, they were right.

The bridges in the river bottom North of Holcolm are in the "same pos" and hence it will be up to the highway department to repair the river bridge which has two auxiliary piers missing.

Sgt. Malcomb Murray Is Prisoner Of War

Mrs. D. D. Smith has been notified by the War Department that her brother, Sgt. Malcomb Murray is reported as a prisoner of the Germans. He was reported missing in action about three weeks ago, and shortly after this message was received, Sgt. Murray's father, Mr. Arthur I. Murray, died, presumably from shock.

Recital At Gore Springs April 8th

Mrs Griffis Shaw will present her music pupils in recital Wednesday evening, April 12 at 8 o'clock at the Gore Springs High School auditorium.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

I paid MY OWN expenses, and have some, in Hot Springs recently.

Mrs. Jennie C. Brown Died Here Monday Morning

Mrs. Jennie C. Brown died at 5 A. M. Monday morning, March 3, 1944, at the home of her son, Stanley Brown, at the age of 84. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Robinson at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Brown is survived by a son, Stanley Brown, and a grand-daughter, Mrs. Buster Clanton, another son, Dudley Brown, having died several years ago.

Mrs. Brown moved to Grenada about 20 years ago to make her home with her brother, Mr. Joe Collins, who died five years ago. Since that time she has lived with her son.

Mrs. Brown was born April 10, 1860 in Fulton, Kentucky. She attended the Fulton Seminary. Later she moved to Hopkinsville. She held a life membership in the Methodist Missionary Society and was a member of the Methodist church.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. L. J. Doak, W. E. Jackson, W. M. Estes, J. D. Hunter, H. H. Heath and James Cuff.

Out of town relatives who attended the funeral were: two nieces, Mrs. Dottie Collins of Paducah and Mrs. Geo. Gourley of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Martin of Memphis, Herman Grimes of Memphis and Raymond Luce of Memphis.

Soldiers of McCain Do Their Part In Salvaging

The necessity for the conservation of paper, tin and glassware is illustrated by the extensive salvage campaign being carried out by Army posts throughout the United States. At Camp McCain, Miss., salvage operations are under the direction of Lt. Bert L. Aser, Post Salvage officer, who reports that due to the full cooperation of the units stationed at McCain, the camp is going "over the top" in the conservation of these vital war materials. Last month, 19.96 gross ton of tin, 22.25 net ton of cardboard and paper, and approximately 43 net ton of glassware was shipped from the camp.

An aggressive campaign is continuing to be exercised, and all unit commanders have been notified by Lt. Aser to exercise strict vigilance in the collection of waste materials, in furtherance of the War Department program of conservation, which is a direct aid to the war effort.

Four Fliers Killed In Crash Northeast of Grenada

The Army has announced the names of three officers and one enlisted man who were killed Sunday when the B-17 bomber crashed about 14 miles east of the Grenada AAB, three miles north of Grenada. The dead are Capt. W. L. Miller, Capt. C. E. Zecum, Capt. C. C. Hunt and Cpl. J. J. Steins. Three of the men were from Great Falls, Mont.

It was reported that the plane disintegrated in the air and scattered over an area of several miles. While details of its flight are not available, it is beleived its last stop was at Tulsa, Okla.

New Building For USO To Be Dedicated April 16th

The federal recreational building on Main Street will be dedicated on Sunday, April 16 at 4 P. M. This building will be operated by the YMCA-JWB unit of USO. These agencies will release the community house to the city and the Legion Hut to the Legion.

On the same afternoon at 3 the building for negro soldiers will be dedicated. These buildings have been built and furnished by the FWA and will be operated by USO for service men, their wives and defense workers.

Mrs. Edna Eatman Died Last Friday

News has reached Grenada of the death of Mrs. Edna Lowe Eatman in the home of her brother in Demopolis, Alabama. The death occurred last Friday, March 31, 1944.

She was a long resident of Grenada, living in a home on the entire block now occupied by Messrs. J. H. Oliver, Andrew Caruthers, Jack Dyre and Dr. C. K. Bailey.

Her husband, the late Dr. George W. Eatman, operated a drug store for many years in the building now occupied by Yollies. There were two daughters, Edna and Eva. The latter perished in the sinking of a large excursion boat in Lake Michigan many years ago. Edna, whose married name escapes our memory, is still living.

Mrs. Eatman for many years was Dean of Women at the University of Mississippi.

Little Edna Marie Woods Died Suddenly

The infant daughter, Edna Marie, of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Woods, of Water Valley, Miss., died suddenly on Saturday night, April 1, at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Edwards, of East Grenada, while the Woods family was here on a visit.

Funeral services were held at Liberty Church, east of Water Valley on Monday, April 3 at one o'clock, Rev. Paul Khienel, Methodist minister, officiated at the last rites.

To the bereaved parents we extend our sympathy.

Those from Grenada to attend the funeral included the grandparents and family.

Jewish Servicemen To Observe Passover

Mr. William Gordon, director of the Jewish Welfare Board has just announced completion of arrangements for the observance of Passover by men of Jewish faith who are stationed at Camp McCain and at the Grenada Army Air Base.

A community seder (dramatic presentation of the events connected with the breaking of Egyptian slavery) will be conducted at recreation building 2619 in Camp McCain for some 500 servicemen and related civilians. The necessary facilities and kitchen equipment for the preparation of the Passover meal are being graciously provided by the army. About 250 servicemen will also be accomodated in private homes in Memphis, Clarksdale and Greenwood.

Although Passover is a Jewish festival of Freedom commemorating their deliverance from Egyptian bondage, it has a broader meaning than just that. For men in all generations, it has been a symbol of their own quest for liberty and a promise that the freedom they desire can be won. Pharoah, so regarded is not merely one ancient tyrant; he is all tyrants. From his defeat, men take confidence that they can break the chains which bind them.

Colonel Ira E. Ryder, Post Commandant of Camp McCain will be a guest at the seder and will extend greetings to the men.

Mr. J. J. Jones of Memphis visited Grenada recently.

Captain and Mrs. H. W. Bondurant who occupy an apartment in the J. M. Talbert home, have had the pleasure of entertaining Captain Bondurant's mother from Washington recently.

Citywide Rat Campaign To Start Next Week

Beginning Tuesday April 11, the campaign against rats will be conducted throughout the City of Grenada.

The campaign, which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be under the supervision of representatives of the Fish and Wildlife Service, the State and County Health departments and the State Plant Board.

The poison used in these campaigns is red squill which is harmless to human beings, domestic animals, poultry, etc., but deadly to rats and mice. It serves as an emetic and rats and mice can not vomit, it is fatal to them when eaten.

The poisoned baits in these campaigns will be distributed throughout the business and residential sections and you are urged to keep all feed and food materials out of the reach of rats in order that they may take the baits more readily.

Col. Ira E. Ryder Speaks To Winona Rotarians

"Mr. President of the Winona Rotary Club and members, I certainly am grateful to be with you here today. We at Camp McCain deeply appreciate the warm hospitality extended to us by the fine people of Winona. I wish to pay you a compliment, and I know it is the feeling of all my officers and men, when I say you have accomplished a splendid job of learning to understand our problems, and have been most generous in your assistance to us on all occasions.

"I do not know what subject Mr Webster wanted me to talk on here today. In fact, I was not assigned a subject that I know of. So I believe I shall dwell on the subject of loose talk and rumor.

"I know that you people here in Winona are all very desirous to aid the war effort in every respect, and I also know that you realize that it is of vital importance to stop loose talk and rumors about military matters, particularly anything pertaining to movement of troops or just plain talk concerning Camp McCain and its official activities.

"Rumors are unfounded! Yes, stupid! Yes, repeated and believed! Yes, unfortunately, yes But it doesn't matter that those stories do not make sense. They are told in time of war, and are spread by many, even though they are only believed by few. The enemy possesses a way to put them together so that they might make sense, and you would not want our sons or me, to be buried at sea before he had a fair chance of striking the enemy on common ground.

"Just recently someone started the rumor that Camp McCain was going to codse. We have no official information to that effect. In fact we are so busy we do not have time for idleness, and therefore no monotony exists at Camp McCain. Empty minds are easily filled with untruths and worries, and idle hands make busy tongues.

"I am going to ask each of you to help us stop rumormongering, and the best way for you to help us is to scotch rumors, oust them from your mind, and pass the word on to your friends so they will do the same. In this way no one will have time to listen to rumor. I assure you that the soldier at Camp McCain is too busy these days with his job to be wishing, worrying or passing guesses along.

"I know we can count on you to help us put an end to these rumors, and I believe it would be fine if you worked up a campaign against rumors, each member of the Winona Rotary Club appointing himself as a committee of one to wage such a campaign.

"I did not intend to take up so much of your time, and in closing I want to again thank Mr. Webster for inviting me here today, and I want each of you to know it is always a genuine pleasure for me to visit Winona."

Signal For Prayer--Bells To Ring, Whistles To Blow

There is now a designated minute of prayer for our soldiers in combat each morning at nine o'clock. When you hear the church bells ring and the whistles blow, stop whatever you are doing and breathe a prayer for all men in service, especially those in combat with the enemy.

This custom isn't new. There are towns all over the United States observing it. The answer to prayer is just. The answer to prayer is mercy shown to God's people.

Only recently I was told of a young man in the South Pacific who wrote--"Tell daddy and sister to pray for me." that appeal is too strong to resist. So whenever you hear the signal each morning at 9 o'clock, "Pray for the soldiers on the battlefield.

Sutton Seeks Aid For The Children's Home Society

Here, at this Easter season when our Lord Christ rose in all the beauty of His Divine glory, bringing new life to a dying world, our thoughts turn to little children who, with the virginal freshness of dewy Youth upon their shining faces, come near to being the only normal human elements left in this war-torn, heartbroken world today.

So the Mississippi Children's Home Society in Jackson, reaches out to take firm hold upon the uplifted, appealing hands of tiny helpless babes and dependent, neglected children, to bring them into loving shelter of warm hearts and welcoming homes.

During the year just past the Society received for placement and aid 212 children and infants, legally adopted 118, visited 378, and admitted since 1912, 3413.

Never before in the history of the Society, has the request for "the homeless child" to fill "the empty, childless home" been so great as it is at this time.

I am sure you would like to aid these dear little ones, by becoming a regular contributor to a great work that is carried on solely by voluntary contributions.

George Terrell, our overseer, is still as tight as a drum. He would not give a nickel to see the flood from Mt. Arat, or however you spell it.

WARTIME MEAT EXTENDERS

Meat not eaten is meat wasted, so it is more important than ever, these days, that it be cooked so appetizingly none will be left on the plate.

SAMMY BURTON

Even the smallest meat leftover must be utilized. No bit of meat is so small that it can't be used to good advantage in some way. Here are some pratical ways of using leftover meats.

Add bits of meat to leftover gravy. Serve on griddle cakes, waffles or toast for lunch; good on potatoes, too.

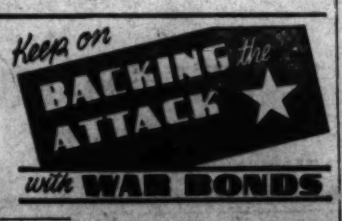
Every try Meat Muffins? Ham or crumbled bacon does something for muffins—especially if they are made with corn meal.

Chef's Salad. Any kind of cooked meat cut in thin strips goes well in a bowl of greens.

Hamburger Broiler Meal

1 pound ground beef or lamb
1/2 cup soy grits or oatmeal
1½ teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup grated onion
1 cup milk
6 cooked carrots
1 No. 2 can peas

Combine meat, soy grits, milk, salt and pepper. Soy grits or oatmeal may be used interchangeably in this recipe. Cooked grits may also be used. Shape into 8 patties and place on broiler rack. Place cooked carrots in one end of broiler pan. Arrange drained peas in other end. Season with salt and pepper. Place broiler rack over vegetables and set pan and rack in broiler allowing about three inches between surface of meat and source of heat. Broil on one side until meat is nicely browned, about 10 to 15 minutes. Turn and brown second side; only one turning is necessary. The vegetables will heat while the meat is cooking. Serves 6.



Aint they sweet.

MRS. MORGAN TO RESIDE IN DeKALB

Mrs. Anna C. Morgan, former Matron at Grenada Hospital Nurses' Home and at Grenada Hospital, more recently of USO unit on Main Street, has resigned her ositon because of her health and is leaving Friday morning for DeaKlb to make her home with her niece, Mrs. McKlevain. Mrs. Morgan has resided in Grenada for 25 years, coming here on March 1, 1919. She has a host of friends who regret her leaving Grenada and who wish for her happiness in her new home.

Mrs. Lizzie Duncan, Miss Adelle Hoffa, Mrs. John King and Mrs. J. P. Fisher spent Monday in Memphis. Mrs. Duncan's grandaughter, Ann Duncan, is a student at Southwestern, and Mrs. Fisher's daughter, Pauline, is a student at St. Mary's Episcopal School and they each enjoyed visiting with them during the day. Miss Hoffa and Mrs. King were guests of Mrs. R. P. Lake, sister of Miss Hoffa.

Friends here will learn with interest that Mrs. Lamar Chamberlain has joined her husband, Sgt. Chamberlain at the Will oRgers Air Base at Oklahoma City, Okla.

It was a good thing that J. E. Little of Oxberry, paid up last week for he is probably cut off by water by now.

Looking over the tracks left in the cash book while I was frolicking in Hot Springs, I see a lot of Lotts, Pfc. Tandy R. Lott, and Pvt. J. W. Lott, both of them Loule's boys.

I was sitting here thinking, and I have confirmed my 26-year old conclusion that I have the sweetest old lady in the world.

You may have missed this, but is certainly illustrates the crowded condition of hotels. A fellow went in to get a room, and received a shake of the head from the clerk. He received another shake when he asked if any other hotel had rooms. "How about the baggage room," he asked, "The manager is sleeping in that," was the reply. "Then how about the elevator," he inquired. The clerk replied, "I am sleeping in the elevator."

BETTER CARE-LESS REPAIR

Since this is a war of metals, it is essential that the useful life of our household appliances be lengthened as much as possible. And now, with production terminated because armaments are the important thing in the effort for Victory, appliances for the home become doubly precious since most of them are not replaceable.

SAMMY BURTON

Every kitchen range, refrigerator, water heater, vacuum cleaner—and so on right down the line—are more efficient, more economical to use and give better service if they are kept clean, adjusted when necessary, and are used properly no matter how old they may be.

Perhaps you haven't been taking what you'd term "Exquisite Care" of your range. Simple daily care is enough, and it isn't very difficult once you start out right and keep it up every day.

Each day the outside enamel should be wiped off with a soft dry cloth when the range is still warm. If further cleaning is needed, wait until the enamel is cool and wash it with mild soap; rinse and wipe dry.

Occasionally wash the sides, bottom, door and racks of the oven, using soap and warm water, and wipe dry. If boil-overs occur during baking due to over-filled pans, allow the oven to cool before cleaning. The spillage then will be thoroughly dry and can be easily removed with a good cleaner.

Indispensable as is hot water, when there is plenty of it on tap we are apt to waste it; it takes fuel to heat the water and fuel must not be wasted in the slightest way today. Check all leaky faucets—repair. Drain tank at frequent intervals by means of faucet at bottom—to remove sludge and sediment from the tank. For general purposes, have the thermostat set at 120 degrees, or no higher than 140 degrees.

These suggestions are a step in the right direction all of us must take to make the most of what we have.

Seaman Francis Hill has lost a good deal of fat, and is now a trim looking sailor.

Among the subscribers lost to the army in the recent haul were E. B. Provine and John McEachin.

The little boys missed a fine opportunity for a swim at the post office corner Tuesday morning.

Sgt. Eddie Nored, who was recently back in Grenada took occasion to renew his subscription.

For the first time in his and our lives, W. E. Brannon, a new subscriber on Rt. 2, got his name in the GCW.

I did not give my old friend Estes Maxwell out, and he finally came out. If he had waited until this week, he would have had to use a boat.

There does not seem to be much rationing in Hot Springs. Lines of cars, miles long, went to and from the races. It is a wonder some of them did not get marooned there as they were in Miami.

The South Looks Up . . . to the Future

SINCE Pearl Harbor, the aviation industry has "discovered" the South—discovered here a land where ideal flying weather prevails—where great distances encourage air traffic and travel.

What Does This Mean?

That the magnificent fields where both the Army and the Navy air crews have developed their convincing superiority, will serve, after the war, as springboards for air transport service for our good neighbors in Latin America.

Over 20 companies have already applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for such routes, and flying schedules promise to be faster, fares lower and pay-loads larger—thanks to the new types of planes which higher octane gasolines have made possible.

Yes, the South can confidently look for "manna from the heavens" through its active participation in a great postwar industry—Commercial Aviation—which will serve the expanding transportation needs of the South itself, spread the fame of Southern products the world over . . . and which today serves as further proof that—

A Greater South Is In the Making

Through constant research and experimentation, the Lion Oil Refining Company has succeeded in developing and is now producing from Southern crude oil, several components of 100 octane gasoline . . . vastly improved lubricants . . . Butadiene, the basis of Buna-S synthetic rubber . . . ingredients for explosives . . . and other vital materials required for war.

From these activities have come increased employment and expanded payrolls! From them will also come post-Victory products destined to contribute materially to the greater industrial and economic advancement of the South!

Twentieth Century Club Elects Officers

Mrs. John Rundle succeeds Mrs. J. B. Perry, Sr., as President and Mrs. R. L. Vandiver succeeds Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt as Vice-President.

Mrs. Bryan Revell invited the 20th Century Club to hold their April 4th meeting in her country home on Highway 51.

When one entered the door of this charming home, you felt you had entered another country.

A Mexican inspired living room, with its many pieces of colorful pottery, wood plaques, basketry and sombreros of typical Mexican authenticy, combined with a modernistic touch of special designed furniture throughout the house, was most pleasing and restful. Even the multicolored tulips, iris, and other Spring flowers arranged in Mexican pottery blended beautifully with the setting.

Mrs. Revell has a guest book, made along the same lines of Mexican artistry, provided for every visitor who enters the lovely home.

Before the opening of the program and assisted by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, and her friend, Mrs. J. K. Avent, she passed delicious ice cream, topped with fresh strawberries, cakes and salted nuts and served with most unique Mexican designed napkins.

Her guests for the afternoon, other than 27 club members, were Mrs. B. F. Porter of Memphis, mother of Mrs. O. L. Kimbrough, Mrs. G. E. Wiley, Miss Lucile Owen and the club's only honorary member, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Grenada county librarian.

During the business session the club voiced its hearty appreciation of Mr. J. B. Perry, President of Grenada Oil Mill, for sounding the 9 o'clock herald for prayer for the men and boys in the war torn countries, on land at sea and in the air. They touchingly pledged their cooperation to this community observance and their support and prayers for a God given victory for us all.

After we enjoyed the tour through Mrs. Revell's lovely country home, we were delightfully taken on another journey when Miss Lucile Owen presented "Eve Cure's Journey Among Warriors". Having met her personally, Miss Owen portrayed this petite, black haired French woman as having poise, style, radiant personality and charming wit. She was the first woman journalist to go behind the lines in Europe.

Mrs. G. F. Deaton reviewed Seghers book, "The Seventh Cross". In a soft pleasing manner, she explained the seven crosses refer to seven trees topped low with a cross on each and when the seven escaped anti-Nazi prisoners were caught by the Gestapo they were nailed to their crosses. The book on anti-Nazism, and that of Malam Cure's are in our public library.

This being the time for the election of officers for the coming year, the following names were presented and accepted: President, Mrs. John Rundle; vice-President, Mrs. R. L. Vandiver; Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. J. Ray; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Kirk; Treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Prose.

The club will hold its last meeting of the year Tuesday April 18 in the home of Mrs. J. K. Avent.

GIRL RESERVE WEEK OBSERVED

The Grenada Junior Girl Reserve Club is presenting a worship service at the Methodist Church on Sunday, April 9, at 5 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Throughout Mississippi April 2-8 is being observed as Girl Reserve Week. Special activities have been planned in addition to the regular function of the club. The Junior Club in the Grenada School presented on Tuesday an assembly program in which 45 girls took part in four clever skits. On Wednesday afternoon the girls enjoyed an Easter egg hunt and picnic. The eggs were sent to the General Hospital at Camp McCain to be used as tray favors for the soldiers on Easter Sunday. In addition ten scrapbooks have been prepared and sent by the club to the hospital. The worship service will be the concluding feature of Girl Reserve Week.

What We Are In For

The WASHINGTON DAILY NEWS of March 14 reveals a sale, approved by Mr. Whl Clayton, by the Maritime Commission of the San Jacinto ship yard, costing the government about $8,300,00.00, to the Duponts for about $200,000.00. This is a sample of the losses the American taxpayers are expected to absorb.

One of my subscribers, after reading that article, said that if he were 15 years younger, he would buy Camp McCain, fence it and use it for growing quail fox, coons, possums and squirrels, and permit only sportsmen and ladies of the evening on the property.

Law By Directives

During the past ten years, it has been revealed, Congress has passed 4533 laws, while the President and various executive departmens have promulgated 3703 so-called "directives" or executive orders, which are as binding as the laws passed by the Congress and approved by the President—the procedure outlined by the Constitution of the United States.

It is a happy sign, even at this late date, that the Senate has ordered an investigation of these various directives BUT only those issued after December 7, 1942. An investigation should be made of all such extra-legal laws which have been promulgated since 1933.

Not even the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer—supposed to be omnicient—can keep up with both the laws and the directives coming from Washington.

Can Take Care Of The Situation

Although the legislature in itslas and dying days passed several laws empowering boards of supervisors to borrow money, issue bonds and impose special levies to pay for the restoration o roads, bridges and culverts wrecked during the recent flood, it is highly improbable that Grenada county will have to resort to either expedient to gets its roads and drainage structures into good shape. It has the cash money to do so.

Grenada county has become one of the best managed counties in the State, and its people have, with an exception only now and then, had sense enough to keep their board of supervisors intact.

No Wonder They Laugh

There is no wonder that the rest of the world laughs at Mississippi when then the legislature passes such laws as the one recently enacted which calls for the collection of a 12 percent sales tax on liquor sold in this State which is, according to its own laws, the driest state in the Union.

A companion measure should have been one that at least collected 15 percent of the amount stolen by the thief, and that the State should collect about 20 percent from the embezzler.

Thanks

We are sure we express the true sentiment of the many marooned people, cut off from land by the flood waters last week, to the 94th Division and to the Red Cross for hurrying to their assistance following the swift rise of the Yalobusha waters. The 94th furnished boats, personnel and many other things, and kept in radio contact with the various rescue craft seeking water-bound people in the lowlands.

We also beleive we express the sincere thanks from the rescuers to Mr. and Mrs. Claud Shaw, who did not leave their home on Mosquito Lake, for the eggs, biscuit, coffee, meat and other good things that they supplied without stint.

sure to march down Berlin.

WARNING

ELECTRIC UTILITY managements have warned for years that the expanding drive for government ownership of the electric light and power industry is but an entering wedge for socialism. In the light of events, their warnings should begin to sink home.

One of the charcteristic evils of government ownership is its immunity from taxation. When the government builds a power dam and enters into competition with private electric companies, the private companies are faced with a nearly hopeless situation. Government mercenaries on the public payroll unblushingly take advantage of tax exemption privileges under government ownership to squeeze the heavily taxed private companies out of existence. The fact that private electric companies contribute substantially to the maintenance of government, has long gone unheeded just as has the warning that the issue of socialism is inherent in the controversy over private versus public ownership of electric utilities.

At last these fundamental questions are coming to the surface with a rush. A large part of the productive capacity of the country is now owned outright by the Federal government. State and local governments are complaining of lost taxes as a result of the substitution of tax-exempt government enterprise for taxpaying private enterprise. The danger is growing that states will have to depend on handouts from the central government for their existence, which will automatically destroy states rights, state sovereignty, and eventually representative government as we have known it in this country.

In Multnomah County, Oregon, the Maritime Commission pays no local taxes on a $46,000,000 investment in shipbuilding improvements and facilities. If the Commission's plants were privately owned, the personal property tax would be at least $1,000,000. In San Francisco, it is estimated that the city's annual tax loss, through Federal appropriation of formerly taxable real estate, and inability of the city to collect a personal property tax on materials and equipment in defense plants, is at least $1,625,000. Los Angeles officials put the amount of taxable real estate and personal property taken off the books at $700,000,000. Up in King County, Washington, 42 per cent of the county's property is tax exempt, due in great part to government ownership of war plants. Similar situations in varying degrees exist throughout the country.

The private electric industry, as the first victim in the move toward Federal socialization, saw the handwriting on the wall. Utility spokesmen are still saying what they have always said—the issue is bigger than any single industry. The issue is whether the people want to change their form of government. At present, knowingly or unknowingly, they are well on the way toward state socialism. — "HUMBOLDT STANDARD," Eureka, California, January 17, 1944.

KEEP ON
Backing the Attack!
WITH WAR BONDS

To The Editor

Dear Whyte:

I am inclosing a brief account of the life and exploits of our mutual cousin, General Earl Van Dorn, of the Confederate Army, and for whom Camp Van Dorn of South Mississippi was named.

W. B. Hoffa.

Earl Van Dorn, for whom Camp Van Dorn was named, was born at Port Gibson, September 17, 1820. Twenty-two years later he was graduated from West Point Military Academy and given a lieutenacy in the 7th Infantry. With this regiment he took part in General Scott's campaign in Mexico, serving so gallantly that he was first made captain and then major, before being wounded.

Later he served with distinction in wars with the Seminole Indians in Florida and the Comache of the West. By 1860, when he was a major in the 2nd Cavalry, he had been presented with handsome swords by the legislature of Mississippi and by the people of Claiborne County, Mississippi, silver service by the citizens of Port Gibson in recognition of his valor and efficiency as an Indian fighter.

When Mississippi seceded from the Union, Van Dorn resigned his commission to offer his services to the Confederacy. He was made one of four brigadier generals for the organiation of a State army and, when Jefferson Davis was made President of the Confederate States, Van Dorn was promoted to major general in command of State troops. General Van Dorn preferred, however, to have service in the actual fighting, so accepted a commission as colonel in 1861. He was later raised to major general.

His record as an officer in the Confederate army is of such unusual eclat and activity, and demonstrated his unquestionable genius in military matters.

Before the War between the States had come to an end, General Van Dorn was assinated by a physician of Spring Hill, Tennessee, who entered his room and shot him as he sat at his desk.

General Van Dorn was a fine horse man, youthful and rather small of stature, but always erect and graceful. He wore his light brown hair long and was always clean shaven except for his long blond mustache. He was a handsome man with flashing blue eyes and sunburned face, and his dashing and spirited appearance inspired his men with respect and admiration for him wherever he served. His genius as a cavalry officer was undisputed, and his daring and intelligence made him the ideal soldier of his time.

We are going to bring you a present,
And I'm sure you both know,
That the present we are going to bring you
Is worse than the Rushian snow.
When you invaded Pollen this world was still at peace,
You've caused so much trouble and so many to grieve.
But that's all right for that, we will get even with you,
If we have to give all of our women and youth,
Remember Pearl Harbor, all the three of you?
You bombed them while they were sleeping, you dirty sizar boo.
You are the cause of many men to leave their wives;
You are the cause of many boys to lose their lives.
You are the cause of grief being among the poor and rich,
You are the cause of your owns'f, Adolf Hitler, to be in a hell of a fix.
You are the cause of our boys being on the battle field today,
You are the cause of our President's more to turn gray.

Dear Mr. Vollie!

I'VE JUST BEEN MARRIED A FEW DAYS AND SOME ONE SUGGESTED THAT I DO MY FIRST GROCERY SHOPPING WITH YOU . . . I WISH TO TELL YOU THAT IT WAS A PLEASURE TO GO AROUND THE STORE AND CHOOSE FROM YOUR BIG STOCK AND EVERY ONE WAS SO NICE AND COURTEOUS, IT MADE ME FEEL RIGHT AT HOME.

AIN'T IT SO!

YOUR FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLE DEPARTMENT WAS SO NICELY ARRANGED AND EVERYTHING WAS SO GARDEN FRESH THAT I WAS CURIOUS TO KNOW HOW YOU KEEP IT IN THIS CONDITION . . . ONE OF YOUR VEGETBLE MEN TOLD ME THAT IN ADDITION TO THE REFRIGERATORS IN THE STORE, YOU HAVE A LARGE WALK-IN COOLER AT THE BACK OF THE STORE AND THAT YOU KEEP A BIG SUPPLY OF EVERYTHING ON HAND AND KEEP IT UNDER REFRIGERATION UNTIL YOU ARE READY TO MAKE A SELLING DISPLAY . . . HE TOLD ME THAT IN THIS WAY I COULD ALWAYS BE SURE OF GETTING FRESH VEGETABLES EVEN UP TO CLOSING TIME SATURDAY NIGHT.

I KNOW IT'S SO!

THE MEAT DEPARTMENT WAS SPLENDID AND T[illegible] MR. ALLISON AND MR. McDONALD SURE ARE THE BEEF'S KNEES WHEN IT COMES TO WEILDING A KNIFE AND GIVING A PERSON A TENDER, JUICY ROAST OR STEAK . . . IRELAND:
Faces Isolation

Traditionally strained, Ireland's relations with Great Britain have again tensed, this time over London's threat to completely isolate the Emerald Isle from the outside world if German and Japanese officials are permitted to remain in Dublin and carry on alleged espionage activities detrimental to Allied invasion forces massed in the United Kingdom.

Anxious to maintain its neutrality, one reason being given that its cities were open to destructive bombings, Ireland replied that it could not banish Axis diplomats without inviting war, and insisted that it had clamped down on any suspicious enemy activity.

As the U. S. refused to sell Ireland ships for carrying needed imports and Britain closed all travel between the two countries, Eire grimly awaited events, its economy already hard hit by unemployment caused by a scarcity of imported raw materials.

COLD STORAGE:
More Meat, Produce

With cooler space 73 per cent occupied and freezer capacity 92 per cent filled, U. S. storage holdings as of March 1 were at record levels, with only apples at a low mark.

Beef stocks aggregated 276,300,000 pounds; pork, 792,700,000 pounds; trimmings, 151,300,000 pounds; lard and rendered pork fat, 354,300,000, of which War Food administration held 200,200,000.

Frozen fruit stocks were 29 per cent over those of a year ago, frozen vegetables 107 per cent, creamery butter 792 per cent, cheese 85 per cent, frozen eggs 75 per cent, and poultry 117 per cent.

Knitting Vet

Ninety-two-year-old Mrs. Christine Lorensen of Clinton, Iowa, is an old hand at knitting for the boys, having first made mittens for Civil war soldiers, and other apparel for vets of the Spanish-American and World War I conflicts. Now, Mrs. Lorensen knits for the Red Cross for World War II's heroes.

Declaring that Americans are suffering little deprivations compared with Civil war days, Mrs. Lorensen said: "We had no coffee at all, and, sometimes, little to eat but cornbread."

WAGES:
Control Attacked

Labor's efforts to revise the War Labor board's stabilization formula limiting wage increases to 15 per cent over January, 1941, were thwarted by the public's and industry's representatives on the board, who advised holding off consideration until congress goes over the whole question of price control.

In an effort to revise the stabilization formula, labor asked that the President be requested to modify the wage ceiling to reflect actual living costs, and the War Labor board hold public hearings to bring out facts which might justify higher pay. Steelworkers pressed for public hearings on their demands for a 17-cents-an-hour raise.

MONEY SYSTEM:
Shaped for World

Long in consideration, the United Nations' plan for an international money system after the war is taking shape, with gold to play an important part as a result of Russia's support.

Based on a plan drawn by the U. S. treasury's monetary expert, Harry D. White, the new money system would require each country to contribute a certain percentage of gold and its own currency to a stabilization fund, which would then operate to prevent any nation's exchange from rising or falling.

White's plan differs from Britain's, which considered having each nation contribute to an international stabilization fund on the basis of its prewar trade, thus tending to favor countries which had heavy foreign commerce.

With a comparatively small prewar trade, Russia found the U. S. plan more acceptable, thus swinging the balance in its favor.

POPULATION

At the present rate of increase, the Russian population will number about 250,000,000 people by 1970, or 25 million more than there will be in all northwestern and central Europe, according to a survey by a League of Nations committee. The 1939 census of the Soviet Republics gave a total of about 170 millions. Current estimates place the figure at 180 millions.

The survey stated that the population of Europe as a whole is now declining.

SAUL BECOMES A NEW MAN

LESSON TEXT: Acts 9:1-9, 13-19a.
GOLDEN TEXT: If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature.—II Corinthians 5:17.

The lives of great men inspire us with an eagerness to make our own lives count for God and for country. Particularly is that true of the life of the apostle Paul, for he combined personal greatness with an absolute surrender and devotion to Christ, which made his life doubly effective.

We recall, however, that this peerless leader for Christ was at first the bitter enemy of everything Christian and we ask, "What changed this man?" The answer is—the redeeming grace of God—but that is the story of our lesson. He became a changed man as he went—

I. From Threatening to Trembling (vv. 1-7).

The enemies of God and of our Christ are often loudmouthed and terror-spreading individuals, who, for a time, strike fear into the hearts of men. Such was Saul of Tarsus, and such are the antichristian leaders of our day. They seem to be so powerful and able to sweep all before them.

But wait! Luther said of God's archenemy, "One little word shall fell him," and it is true. See what happened to Saul. Off on his journeys of persecution and destruction, bold and determined, he met Jesus on the Damascus road, and the great threatener is found to be "trembling and astonished" (v. 6).

The Lord is still on His throne, and one day every mouth shall be stopped (Rom. 3:19), and all His enemies shall tremble before Him. Would that they would do it while there is time to repent.

II. From Persecuting to Praying (vv. 2, 8, 9; see also v. 11).

Paul utterly devoted to the rooting out of this hated sect of Christians was on his way with letters authorizing their imprisonment. It was all very official, zealous and marvelous in men's sight, until he met Jesus, and it all blew away.

Ananias, that faithful layman (may his tribe increase!), was called of God to go and speak to the stricken Saul. When he feared to go, God encouraged him (v. 15), for the powerful persecutor had now become a penitent pray-er (v. 11). That's what a face to face meeting with Jesus did for Paul—yes, and will do for any man or woman.

III. From Scoffing to Suffering (vv. 1, 13-16).

Saul doubtless gloried in the breathing out of threatenings and slaughter of which we read in verse 1. He was riding high in the seat of authority and of official approval. It was satisfying to his fleshly pride to make known his dreadful purposes of destruction and imprisonment for these helpless Christians.

Did we say helpless? Oh, no, they had on their side all the power of the Eternal One. He who touches the people of God touches the Lord Himself. Paul thought he was fighting a little sect of Christians, but found that he was fighting the Lord Himself (v. 5).

But now that he had met Jesus and was ready to turn in devotion to His sacred cause, he was to learn what it meant to suffer. Let us note well that suffering for the sake of one's faith may be entirely within the will of God, yes, and for His glory.

IV. From Spiritual Death to Spiritual Life (vv. 17-19).

Men have tried to explain the experience of conversion on the ground of psychology, as a cataclysmic change in the life of an individual who has gone through some great sorrow or trial, but it simply will not go down. There is in real conversion a regeneration which means a completely changed life.

Saul did have a sudden and moving experience on the Damascus road, but it was not just because of a blinding light and a mighty voice. It was a light "from heaven" (v. 4), and the voice of the Lord.

Saul was "filled with the Holy Ghost," and received his sight. He was ready now to be used of the Lord as the greatest missionary evangelist and theologian that the world has ever known.

This change was one which reached down into his inmost being and transformed his beliefs. The Jesus he had hated, now became his all consuming passion and love. He no longer looked to his works to save him, for now he knew the personal Saviour.

What happened within showed itself in his attitude toward those without. It always does. He now came to love the very people he had hated and persecuted, and turned every bit of his strength and ability into the task of working with them in the spreading of the gospel throughout the world.

Men and women—yes, boys and girls—today need this same change from death to life. Too long have we been trying to polish up the exterior of lives unchanged within.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

RELATIONS WITH ALLIES LACK 'SECURITY'

WASHINGTON.—The visit of State Undersecretary Stettinius to London is being played down because Mr. Roosevelt said it would make no headlines.

The official story is that he is going over to get acclimated at the British foreign office. But he is seeking more than a whiff of the climate in those hallowed halls, and if all the news about it were given out, there might be plenty of headlines.

There is no use pretending Anglo-American-Russian relations are in a settled state. Russian external policies, the Polish, French Nationalist committee and Italian problems—all together representing practically the entire fundamental basis of world policy—are far from a common understanding.

In fact, collectively, they are in such a state that a sound contention could be made that there is no Allied political policy today (as distinct from the military policy on which there seems to be unity).

A disillusionment with Russia has developed in the state department here from Stettinius on down, excepting possibly only State Secretary Hull at the top. Observers from within have noticed that trend spreading apace with Russia's repeated steps to develop agreements with each individual nation in Europe (unilateral understandings) contrary to Hull's stand against separate alliances.

Nevertheless, Hull's friends classify him as more hopeful than most of the others that the Russians are merely presenting alternatives to the world, first moving in one direction and then in the other, at one time pleasing us, and at another goading us. That these moves represent a threat and possibly a break is the more common view of other officials.

Why Mr. Roosevelt and the British are giving one-third of the conquered Italian fleet to the Russians has not been thoroughly explained. No one has even hinted that we should get one-third of what the Russians conquer in this war to make matters even.

Only explanation offered here is that the Reds have sacrificed greatly—one of the highest officials saying privately the war would have ended in a stalemate, had not Russia wasted the German army. This seems to represent the official attitude.

The British, however, seem even more resentful of Moscow diplomacy, if not frightened by it. If Mr. Stettinius can make any progress toward solution of this complex tripartite relationship, he will not only get a headline, but a medal.

NEW VOTING TREND BECOMES DEFINITE

The Republican defeat in the upper New York city congressional district was probably a greater victory than the success in Colorado—and just as significant.

The Republican candidate, William S. Bennett, was a mild, 73-year-old former congressman who ran on the uninspiring platform of superior experience. (He had been in congress several times as far back as 1905.)

The Democrats thought their man would have no trouble as their majority two years ago was two to one by a margin of 30,000 votes. But the Republicans got busy at the last moment and cut their defeat to an amazing 1,571 votes.

The Colorado victory had been expected for some weeks, but out there, the winning Republican was what would be called here an ultra conservative. He was hotly against the New Deal and a business man, an occupation which is supposed to make anyone a conservative.

The trend disclosed in these two elections is now obviously and undeniably the trend of the entire country. The surprising extent of anti-administration feeling in the congressional by-elections first became conclusively apparent in Kentucky.

But even before that a majority of Republican governors (25) had been elected in states aside from the Solid South. Outside of Washington, you might say this has become a Republican country.

The question then is whether Mr. Roosevelt can beat back this tide. The Republican governors naturally have active political organizations in the most powerful states, something they have never had since 1932—and organizations win elections.

Most Democratic authorities here privately concede that even if Mr. Roosevelt gets a fourth term, he probably will lose control of congress. They are counting on his personality and their expectation that the war will be on.

No sound bets could be made on that for probably eight months yet. If the war is still on, the people may start asking why it has not been ended sooner and may desire a change in its conduct.

The old adage about not changing horses in midstream may weaken as the stream grows wider.

THERE are two ways to make a slip cover. One is to pin and then cut the actual material right on the chair; the other is to cut muslin or old sheets on the chair and then use the pieces for a pattern.

Whichever method is used, fit and pin the pieces smoothly but do not stretch them. Allow ⅛-inch seams and a 4-inch tuck-in around a spring seat. Notch the seams to show how they should be joined. When fitting a pattern, mark each piece with an arrow, as shown, to indicate which way the grain of the goods should run.

At the bottom of the sketch the pattern pieces are shown pinned to the material. If figured fabric is used, be sure to place the pattern pieces so that the design is centered for the back and the seat of the chair.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Window screens, rust-proof and flexible, that will roll up like shades are among the rubber products promised for post-war service by B. F. Goodrich technicians.

In 1942, automobile graveyards wrecked 2,043,000 cars. It is estimated that 1,194,000 cars will have ceased their rubber-wearing activities in 1943 through the medium of the wrecker.

Don't forget the spare in re-tooling time, for rubber not in service wears more rapidly than when in actual use.

At least 16 Latin-American countries have soil and climatic conditions suitable for the growing of rubber.

FLAGSTONE TERRACE

Question: I have a spot in my yard about 6 by 12 feet that I want to fix up as an outdoor sitting room with a flagstone floor. What should I put in first and how many inches should I dig out? I have the flagstones and want to know if I should put cinders in first, and then lay the flagstones on top with cement between.

Answer: Excavate to a depth of about 10 inches. Cinders (not ashes) are then placed in the excavation, rolled and tamped well to within 5 inches of the level that you have decided on. Over this place a 3-inch bed of concrete (1 part portland cement, 2 of sand and 3 of stone, the stones no larger than 1 inch). Use no more water than necessary to make a workable mixture. Follow at once with the setting mixture (3 parts sand and 1 part cement). As soon as the setting bed is leveled, sprinkle with dry portland cement and lay the stone in the prearranged pattern. The stone must be thoroughly wet when you set it. Point all joints with a mortar mix of 2 parts sand and 1 part cement. The surface must be kept damp for several days.

Water Cistern

Question: We have a cistern in the basement which does not hold water above the faucet level. During a recent storm the cistern was full to the top at night, but the water had disappeared to the faucet level by morning. We have had three different people re-cement the walls and floor of the cistern. During my absence my husband put a thin coat of cement on the outside, and it looks terrible—but I guess he meant well. Can you offer some suggestion?

Answer: It is possible that your difficulty lies with the faucet; the constant water level at this point seems to indicate it. If the faucet is not used, remove it and plug up the hole; however, if it is necessary, remove the old faucet and replace it with a drain valve.

Cottage Floor Is Cold

Question: We have a four room frame cottage, heated with oil stoves. But the floors are not warm enough, and we would like to know if there is some way we could remedy this? There is no basement, but even though it is entirely closed to the ground all around the cottage, it gets quite cold. We do not want to go into anything too expensive. What can you suggest?

Answer: If there is enough space under the house, place blanket insulation, the kind that comes with a waterproof covering, between the floor joists. Your local building material or lumber dealer should be able to supply you with this type of insulation. Should this be impossible to do, cover the floor with a carpeting; a rug cushion under it will add to the comfort.

Piano Keys

Question: The smooth, glossy finish on the ivory keys of my piano has become very rough. What can be done to restore the original finish?

Answer: The ivory has been worn down, and restoration of the keys to their original finish cannot be done at home. A piano repairman could replace the ivory covering. You can, however, improve the appearance of the keys with a coat of white enamel. Rough the surfaces by rubbing with fine sandpaper, then clean them by wiping with turpentine. For a first coat use an enamel undercoat or flat paint, and finish with a good quality white enamel.

Shingles or Siding

Question: Which would be the more practical to use on the exterior of our house, shingles or siding? Do the shingles make a tight finish, or will they become loose in time?

Answer: Both types of exterior wall covering are practical, and if properly applied wood shingles or siding should give you long service, when protected against the elements by paint or a wood preservative. The choice of one or the other is up to yourself. Inspect several houses covered with siding and shingles, and see which you like best.

Nazi Forces Retreat Toward Rumania As Russians Regain Rich Farm Lands; Allied Troops Drive New Wedge Into Germans' Main Defense Line in Italy

Italy—Row on row, these little white crosses in Mount Soprano cemetery mark the graves of fallen American Doughboys in Italy.

OPA:
Renewal Sought

Claiming that OPA has held wartime price increases to half the level of World War I, Price Administrator Chester Bowles appeared before the senate banking committee to testify for continuation of the agency for another year.

Chester Bowles

Following early increases to iron out prewar depression prices, the cost of living has been held absolutely stable during the last 11 months, Bowles said.

Asking for retention of present powers, Bowles said OPA would continue with present techniques for keeping down prices, including subsidies, which he called essential.

Cattle Subsidy

To bring cattle off the range and prevent a market glut in the fall, OPA considered increasing packers' subsidies by 30 cents to enable them to offer higher prices for the stock during spring and summer.

At the same time, government officials considered placing a floor under medium and lower grade cattle whose quality may be affected by the tight feed situation, with floors for the spring and summer above those for the fall.

While increased subsidies were being considered for cattle, lower subsidies were being studied for hogs, in line with government policy for decreased pig production. Now $1.30 a hundred pounds, the hog subsidy may be cut by 30 cents.

SOLDIER VOTE:
President Gets Bill

Passed by congress, the compromise soldier vote bill, allowing use of the short federal ballot if certified by the governor and state ballots are unobtainable, found its way to President Roosevelt's desk for signature or veto.

Once outspoken in his opposition to a bill limiting soldier voting to state ballots alone, the President took up the compromise measure with caution before acting, wiring all 48 governors to report to him whether they would permit use of the short federal ballot, which only lists the presidential and congressional offices without including the names of the candidates.

If the governors O.K. the short federal ballot, servicemen will only be able to use it if their states have no absentee voting laws, or if they have applied for state ballots but have not received them.

RUSSIA:
Free Ukraine

Germany's remaining foothold in the Ukraine was loosened as Russian troops smashed into Nazi lines along the Bug river, and as the enemy's forces fell back toward Rumania, the Reds regained the rich farm and mineral land.

As Russia scored its military success in the south, Finland in the north turned down Moscow's armistice offer, based on restoration of the 1940 borders and internment of German troops entrenched in the little country.

Russia's southern drive carried Red troops to within 30 miles of the prewar Rumanian border, while farther to the northwest, they were within 100 miles of the old Czech and Hungarian frontiers.

EUROPE:
Drive Wedge in Italy

Having driven a wedge into the German's main defense line by leveling Cassino with a devastating aerial attack by heavy bombers, Allied forces fought hard to advance up the road to Rome and get at the rear of the enemy hemming in U. S. and British troops on the Anzio beachhead.

Although the thunderous leveling of Cassino left that once-fortified village standing directly on the road to Rome a pile of jumbled mortar, Nazi guns established in the surrounding hills continued to rake Allied troops, making progress slow.

Preliminary to the big showdown in the west, Allied bombers continued to roar over Axis Europe, ripping at Nazi channel defenses, France's network of rails over which the enemy plans to shuttle troops to meet invasion armies, and German industries turning out the weapons of war. To counter the raids, the Nazis sent up swarms of fighter planes, and great sky battles raged.

PACIFIC:
Troubled War-Lords

As U. S. army and naval forces kept up a running fire over the entire Pacific area, Japan's jumpy little war-lords had this to worry about:

Continued Allied bombings of Wewak, New Guinea, and Rabaul, New Britain, feeder bases for Jap troops in those regions.

U. S. control of the Admiralty islands lying along the supply route to Rabaul.

General MacArthur's increasing isolation of the 30,000 Jap troops hemmed in on Bougainville island in the Solomons, with the U. S. fleet and air force in control to prevent major reinforcement or general withdrawal.

Navy and army bombers continuing attacks on the Jap fleet's big outpost of Truk, guarding the entrance into the waters of the enemy's South Pacific empire.

DRAFT:
Tighten Deferments

In order to meet the services' demands for 1,160,000 men by July to bring military strength to 11,300,000, local draft boards have been directed to tighten up on all deferments, particularly for those in the 18 - 25 age group.

Gen. Hershey

Under the new directives issued by Selective Service Chief Lewis B. Hershey, only indispensable employees, regardless of family status, are to be deferred, and only the state draft head or national headquarters is to pass on any deferments for the 18 to 25 year age group.

Only farm workers producing 16 units will be eligible for deferment, and careful consideration will be given to the cases of 470,000 farm workers under 26.

While Selective Service pressed for more men, General Hershey said few of the 3,485,000 4Fs will be found acceptable for military service. Only about 11 per cent of those with dependents, including fathers, have been taken thus far, he said, and only about 1 in 10 will pass physicals.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

PENNIES: Since the copper situation has improved considerably, the War Production board has decided to permit addition of enough of the red metal to pennies to restore the old copper-zinc ratio of 95 parts copper to 5 parts zinc. Production rate currently is at 150 million one-cent pieces per month. It is expected that the annual output will exceed a billion steel pennies.

FOOD PROCESSORS: There will be a need for at least 700,000 seasonal workers in canneries and other food processing plants this year, Paul McNutt, manpower commissioner, says. This is 100,000 more than were needed last year. Students, women, and part-time workers will be the only source, he believes, though prisoners of war and soldiers on leave can be called upon.

Bituminous Firing

Slots in the firing door should be left open following a firing of bituminous coal to provide air to insure burning of the combustible gases. Later, when the fuel is coked and the gases are all driven off, these slots can be nearly closed so that excessive cold air is not drawn into the furnace. A good rule is to leave the door slots open whenever smoke can be seen in the furnace and nearly closed at all other times.

Damper Control

There is a slight difference in the control of dampers when bituminous coal is used. Anthracite fuel beds tend to be self-damping at high fuel-bed temperatures, whereas bituminous coal burns more rapidly. Thus the ashpit damper need not be opened as wide with bituminous coal, and must be closed sooner to prevent overheating.

Larger Cows

The present tendency is to keep larger cows. Production records of large numbers of cows indicate that the larger cows return the greater profit. It may be desirable to have the length of the stall platform greater at one end of the stable than at the other, to comfortably accommodate cows of different sizes.

For you to make

EVEN as inexpensive a fabric as unbleached muslin can be made into mighty attractive aprons if you dress it up with bright appliques. Use bright red cotton for the cherries, green for the leaves—it will make a lovely apron!

The next meeting of the Junior Hostess Club will be held on the third Monday of April, the 17th, at the new club house.

NO NIGHTMARE, JUST A NIGHT COW; PVT. PAYS FOR BOTTLES

WITH SECOND ARMY ON MANEUVERS, Somewhere in Tennessee, Feb. 28—Pvt. Edward Petit, 71 East Seventh Street New York, on maneuvers with an infantry outfit was sleeping peacefully and dreaming of his wife until—

Something nudged his foot, a slow smile spread over his face.

"All right, dear, I'll get up right away," he muttered.

He drew the blankets closer around him. Suddenly a pain shot through his leg. In that second between sleep and full wakefulness his dream whirred like a runaway movie.

His charming wife was growling and biting him on the foot—his beauty rest mattress felt decidedly like the Tennessee mud—and his eyes flew open in horror.

There in the darkness a hulking shape moving slightly.

"My God", he shrieked, "She's got horns."

"Who" grasped Lt. Billy Foster, of 104 Cherry Street, Grenada, Miss., as he awoke just in time to see Petit jump violently backwards and land squarely on his stomach.

The lieutenant simply said a loud "Oooofff," and went back to sleep.

"My wife bit me on the foot" said Petit, suddenly awake and becoming accustomed to the darkness. The figure at the entrance to the tent wagged its tail and started eating a cardboard box full of candy bars. It also made a noise that sounded a lot like "Moo."

"Lieutenant", whispered Petit, "There's a cow in the tent and it's eating up our PX supplies." Lieutenant Foster didn't answer. He couldn't. He was dreaming that Joe Louit had just dropped him for the count.

Something must be done quick. After all it's one thing to simply account ofr a shortage by saying, "Sir, I don't know what happened" and another to say without flinching, "Sir, a cow ate that case of candy." Petit mustered courage and undertook to drive the intruder away. He groped in the darkness for a weapon. His hand came to rest on a case of empty pop bottle. He grabbed one, took careful aim and let fly. The cow uttered a surprised "moo" and ran off into the night.

Rage of battle now blazing in Petit's eye, he followed in hot pursuit heaving empty bottles at every step.

Lieutenant Foster sat up, shook his head just in time to see Petit disappearing down the road in his long underwear. But that one glance was enough to see the empty bottles flying through the air. And out over the stillness of a Tennessee night could be heard the bellow:

"Petit, I want a five cent deposit for every one of those bottles, you hear?"

Thousands "got back in the harness"

FARM BOYS are apt to be husky fellows—good pilots and sailors and soldiers. Service stars hang in the windows of most farm homes.

That complicates the problem of producing more food, particularly on dairy farms. Milk isn't reaped in a single harvest. Cows need individual care every morning, every night, every day of the week. So what has happened in the dairy regions all over the land?

Men and women, little boys and girls, are working harder. Thousands of old-timers, who thought their working days were over, have "got back in the harness".

In spite of difficulties, the Government's dairy goals must be met. More milk! And nutritious products of milk, such as cheese. Nearly 450 million pounds of cheese for our fighting men and fighting allies! Over 500 million more pounds for you and other civilians to eat! More than twice as much cheese as the nation could produce at the last war's end is needed now.

America's dairy farmers shoulder a tremendous load. Fortunately for the U. S. A. and for the world, they have the spirit to carry it.

Because of the tremendous demand, both military and civilian, you may not be able to get as much Kraft Cheese as you would like, or get your favorite varieties—Kraft American, "Old English", "Philadelphia" Brand Cream Cheese, Velveeta, and so on. But you may be sure, as always, that any cheese or cheese food which bears the Kraft name represents the very highest standard of quality.
